Introduction

Here is a lively question and answer game to play with your students.

Procedure

Choose two students to be the 'Catchers' and blindfold them.

The other students find a spot in the classroom and stand still.

The catchers' task is to find the other students.

The other students remain completely silent to avoid being caught.

To avoid being caught, students are also allowed to move three steps in the whole game.

When a catcher finds a student, they ask the student a target question set by the teacher.

The student then answers the question and leaves the game.

The last student left standing wins.
