Introduction

In this past simple passive activity, students ask and answer questions about famous inventions and discoveries.

Procedure

Begin by writing the following sentence from the worksheet on the board:

Penicillin was discovered by Alexander Fleming in Scotland in 1928.

Erase the word 'Penicillin' and elicit the question 'What was discovered by Alexander Fleming?'

Write 'Penicillin' back in the sentence.

Then erase 'Alexander Fleming' and elicit the question 'Who was penicillin discovered by?'

Write 'Alexander Fleming' back in the sentence and then repeat with the place and year.

Tell the students that they are going to ask and answer similar questions in pairs.

Divide the students into pairs (Student A and B).

Give each student a corresponding worksheet.

Tell the students not to show their worksheet to their partner.

Explain that the students are going to complete the table on their worksheet by asking their partner for the missing information using the past simple passive.

The students then take it in turns to ask and answer the past simple passive questions they need to complete the missing information in the table.

When the students have finished, they check their answers by comparing tables with their partner.
