Introduction

Here is an introducing yourself and others speaking activity to help students practice greetings and introducing themselves and others.

Procedure

Begin by pre-teaching language for greetings, introducing yourself and others.

Examples:

Hello, I'm...
What's your name?
Nice to meet you (too).
What do you do?
... let me introduce you to ...
How do you do?

Divide the class into groups of eight.

Give each student an identity card and a corresponding task card.

Explain that the students are going to take on the identity of the person on their card and that their task is to find the two people on their task card and introduce them to each other.

All the names and jobs are very similar, so the students need to listen carefully to make sure they have the right two people.

The students then go around the group introducing themselves and asking each other's name and job until they find the two people who are to be introduced.

When a student finds the two people, they introduce them to each other using the target language.

Example:

Peter Brown: Lucy Brown let me introduce you to Peter Smith.
Lucy Brown: How do you do?
Peter Smith: How do you do? What do you do Lucy?
Lucy Brown: I'm an engineer. And you?
Peter Smith: I'm a sales manager.
